Passion of Christ Reenactment in Sordevelo, Italy (Piemonte)

What: Similar in tradition to the Oberammergau Passion Play of Germany, Sordevelo's La Passione di Cristo is a re-enactment of the Passion of Christ

Why: Religious importance and only occurs every 5 years

When: 2015 (contact us for dates)

Viewer Testimony:

"The Passion Play in Sordevelo was a moving production of the story of the life of Jesus Christ. The local cast put their heart and soul into it. There wasn't a dry eye in the house at the end, and it felt truly transformative. Piemonte has some of the best and most unique cuisine I have sampled in my travels! The medieval villages and the mountains and lakes were awe inspiring, but it was the hospitality and kindness of the people there that really made me want to go back again and again, at least every 5 years for the Passion Play!" - Loretta, Clean Getaway Travel, Key West, FL

"In 2010, I was so fortunate to be a guest and experience first-hand the Passion of Christ. As I sat in awe, I wished that everyone in my family could be with me to experience the wonders of this play and my feelings at that moment." - Kathleen Guglielmo, Owner, Ease Into Italy & Beyond LLC
